ABOUT ME

I'm a final-year Web Application Development (DAW) student with a passion for cyber security. I have completed several online courses on hacking, pentesting, and cryptography, and I'm eager to apply my knowledge in real-world scenarios. I'm a quick learner and a go-getter who thrives on challenges and new experiences. I have a creative and analytical mindset that allows me to solve problems and innovate solutions. I'm looking for opportunities to expand my skills and network with like-minded professionals. For more information about me and my projects, feel free to visit my personal website.
